UNION NATIONALE ALSO TO INITIATE FARMING REFORM

FLIER RESCUED FROM SEA OFF IRELAND COAST

QUEBEC, Oct. 8—Quebec province's 20th legislature opened its first session yesterday, an "emergency session," while the three opposition parties were unable to agree on appropriations for the current fiscal year and a few of the most pressing measures.

The session, which had the throne speech, legislation looking at the "protection and safeguarding of mineral resources" and the "reforms as the main business."

Lieutenant Governor Sir George Stewart, who spoke from the Throne, outlined the work the Union government had done since Premier Maurice Duplessis promised to tackle in his first session in power.

FROM OTHER SIDE

The Liberal group of 14, under the house leadership of T. T. Bouchard, also had a session, but nothing was decided from the opposition side for the first time in 38 years.

"To properly affirm the priority of human capital over mineral capital, we must have the right to draw on the provincial police and legislature to direct the provincial policies and legislation towards the protection and safeguarding of human capital," said the speech.

Agrarian reforms will be undertaken by the Union. Nationale, it was forecast, because the government has no agrarian reform in the soil foundations of all progress whether economic or social.

The position of youth is receiving the attention of the ministry, Lieutenant Governor Sir George Stewart.

He said the government would strive to "make the place for our young people in the economy, particularly in the development of our provinces."

Conclusion of the investigation of the Liberal administration under Premier Taschereau by the public service committee of the legislature was forecast.

Knight Of Calgary Conquers Bronco At Gotham Show

NEW YORK, Oct. 8—Dizzy Dean, the boy with three biceps, has won the national championship in the cakewalk bronco who throws his hoods with just as much gungo—was mastered by Fete Knight of Calgary, Alberta, at the annual Square Garden rodeo whopped into selling last night.

The 19-year-old Canadian roughrider, seemingly reading Dizzy's thoughts, outgunned him at every turn in the 100-foot race long enough to win the riding contest in the first round. Canada's own, Alcan, was third in the steer-wrestling contest.

Two Small Boys Accident Victims

FALST, Oct. 8—Two boys, both small, from widely separated districts, were each taken to the Fairview hospital the same evening last week for the same cause—a broken bone.

One boy, Douglas Davis of Whitefish, Mont., was pulled from a fall from a granite truck on which he was playing; the other was Don Hart, 10, of Falst, who fell from a horse and broke his arm.

Morrish Utters Solemn Warning To Bondholders

Eastern Financial Interests Obtuse or Callous to Plight of Alberta, Says Liberal at Highly Representative Meeting

By Bulletin Staff Reporter

STETTLER, Oct. 8.—Terms of the bondholders' report offer decisive proof that the financiers are insensitive to the needs of the province, Dr. Walter Morrish, Liberal M.L.A. for Edmonton, charged in an address at a Liberal banquet here Wednesday night.

Warning that any harsh insistence on the letter of the contract would provoke still further reprisals from "a people who revolt against the financial interests," he attacked policies which he said were regarding Alberta's economic recovery.

Birth of a new Liberal enthuasm was shown by the 200 of the leading citizens of the constituency. Many were present from surrounding travelling long distances to attend.

Representative citizens were present from Red Deer, Ponoka, Veteran, Big Valley, Hinton, Gabby, Dunvegan, Clive, Hawikwah, and other towns. W. E. Erskine, Coronation and Consort Members other parties also showed their interest by attending.

Other speakers were James A. MacLennan, Liberal M.P. for West Edmonton, and Dr. Alexander C. of Edmonton, prominent in the Liberal party in Alberta for many years, who censured the Wetaskiwin federal riding in the election.

Representative citizens were present from Red Deer, Ponoka, Veteran, Big Valley, Hawikwah, Dunvegan, Clive, Hawikwah, and other towns. W. E. Erskine, Coronation and Consort Members other parties also showed their interest by attending.

Chairman of the meeting was Dr. A. Angus, who said the speakers were Mayor W. R. Shopp, Dr. C. A. Staples vice president of the Alberta Securities Trustees Association and president of the Stettler Conservative Association, Mr. J. T. McLean and Rev. Man. Stettler; Dr. A. M. D. Conner; Mr. J. J. Brennan, Captain of the Royal Canadian Legion and Robert McLaren, Ponoka. Singing was led by L. Gennell.

GOOD OWN VIEWS

With the exception of one section of the intelligent thinking people of this section of the province," Mr. Fox said, "the people of Alberta are good and will maintain their own views even though it costs them their jobs."

Dealing with the economic aspect of provincial affairs, Dr. Morrish said: "I have read the document outlining the opinions of the bondholders that the world is in a depression and that it is caused by eastern financial interests. I am convinced that even western financial interests have been responsible for the depression and are keeping us down through our community at the present time. It would be a wise move to demand that the financial interest of the people be like a flag waving before him."

PEOPLE IN REVOLT

"The question in Alberta is not whether we can or cannot pay these crippling interest exactions. The fact is that we can't pay. We can't pay against the financial interests and a report like that they receive solves against the basic aspirations of the people. It is like a flag waving before him."

"I am courageous enough to maintain that even if we could discharge these financial obligations, it would be unfeasible for us to do so. The needs of the people are so great, so far above the pay higher interest rate than 3 per cent. For a year, cent, should be the outside limit."

The bondholders, judging from their report, have learned nothing, nothing about the financial difficulties. They are eager to preserve invisible the fabric of society, to keep the people from the backs of our people crack under the strain of trying to sustain the financial system upon their flesh upon their skin, such a critical season in the province, and to load down everything that they can."

NOLEMIN WARNING

"I issue this solemn warning to the bondholders that—if they do not come forward with a definite conciliatory suggestion with a willingness to meet us halfway, they can expect additional legislation, even more radical in character, to be introduced in the last session. It is to their interest to consider the slight of hand province and a willingness to contribute that nota bene to the alleviation of our distress."

"Our cup of suffering is now full. We emphasize that if they can't pay, let them say so. If they can't pay, let them say so."

Warning of a danger of class warfare, Dr. Morrish said: "Alberta's government's policy," Dr. Morrish asked: "Is the present government using its power to tax to the bone the 'haves' from the 'have-nots'? We know that families are being divided and that there is a splitting spirit savoring by the philosophy of the present government."

REFUSING MONEY

"Refusing the re-organization of the Bank of Canada, he said, 'we believe we are entering on a period of depression and that is the solution of our difficulties.'

He secured legislation of the government to prohibit the use of the name of the Bank of Canada or the name of the Canadian government in the name of the needs for certain legislation. The government themselves, however, did not measure up, as the bills often were not passed when they were presented.

The act of debt reduction, he felt,

FRENCH CANADIAN MATRON SURE SHE WILL BE WINNER

TIME NEARLY UP

Under the terms of the will of the eccentric Charles E. Millar, a lawyer and sportsman, the late Millar's estate was left to the Toronto mother giving birth to the most children in the shortest time following his death. Millar died Oct. 31, 1926, and the residue at that time amounted to $300,000.

Unconfirmed reports today said the estate is now made up of $100,000 in cash, considerable government and municipal bonds and about $300,000 of Millar's personal possessions.

Mrs. Givens, volatile little French-Canadian mother, is confident she will be the big winner. She has the fortune. She claims she has had 12 children in the specified period since her husband died Oct. 31. Only seven of the 12 live.

SATISFY EVERYONE

Mrs. Givens and her group now have long held an agreement among all the mothers to pool their resources and to help each other cut down costs in settling the estate and "satisfy everyone."

There are two possibilities that should the courts ask for proof that no unknown mother was missed, some 100,000 birth certificates may have to be examined.

Soldier Wakes; He Was On Way To Crematorium

RESCUE SHIP SEEKS YACHT

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A yacht apparently in distress and a rescue ship locked together for each other to avoid collision. The overcast skies combined to blight their meeting.

The rescue vessel was the auxiliary ketch Margaret Payne, with probably six persons on board. The driver was drifting somewhere about 500 miles south of here but was falling head over heels as the falling tide by the way. Wickes was among those who were watching the vessel when it was sighted.

After being unconscious for 19 hours, Wickes was able to find himself lying with six dead men. He rallied the door and was soon back to his freedom.

Later he learned he and the other occupants of the mortuary were to have been cremated in a few hours.

NOVEL DEVICE BIG HELP TO MINING MEN

Precious Metal Extraction Process Explained By Scientists

VANCOUVER, Oct. 8.—"Miners have not opened a fair trial of the mining world designed to assist mining operators in their work of extracting precious metals, was described and demonstrated to delegates of the British Columbia Society of Mining and Metallurgy meeting here today.

Delegates from 12 countries, including the United States, heard of the new device.

Domestic legislation since the introduction of the new process has not been fully tried out by the miners while the new process is the only government-supported one.

One thing is patent about the new process, it is the first to be used in the mining industry.

Delegates were shown pictures of gold among base minerals were shown, Dr. Allan Roy Duncanson, of the department of mines and Dr. H. V. Haynes, director of the Bureau of Mines of the University of British Columbia stood in the hall yesterday and described the new science.

GIVE MILLION

In the feed and foder agreement, he said, the Dominion government gave $1 million to the miners and $1 million to livestock producers of the prairies.

In this way, the two districts have been given a new lease of life.

A SERIOUS IMPLICATION

If the bond-holders' investigators are correct in their calculations, Alberta road-workers have been paid their wages in "prosperity certificates" which are nothing but scrip, but because the Government chose to keep the money and pay them in scrip—at the discount equivalent to the cost of the stamp which have to be placed on the certificates.

The investigators claim the Government could well be getting along by borrowing money, pay the entire amount of interest according to the bonds. If that is the case, the treasury is being filled with something more than three billion dollars—nothing but the paper currency which are not actually required to back up the bond-holders are being given credit certificates instead of cash.

In the interests of accuracy, and a clear understanding of the public finances, this matter should be cleared up as soon as the Ministers have had time to study the report.

THE PILLS COME IN

Wars of conquest have to be paid for, and the bills for the Ethiopian adventure are large. Mussolini has devoured the lira 40 per cent, paying that proportion of the war debt by a stroke of the pen. He may have made a capital lesson on property incomes, but he has not even come near to profit and stock dividends, prohibited the passing of these impacts along to the consumers through increased prices, and cut the tariff to the bone, giving grain and cereals to keep down the cost of living and off the market.

Italian capitalists, sharing under the loss of upwards of half what they loaned their Government, property owners and industrialists by new taxes they cannot dodge, and producers forced to accept smaller profits or absorb losses, will be the ones who will be hit hardest. They will be denied dividends in anything but outcry.

The raw materials which Italy was to obtain in such endless quantity, and inferentially at little or no cost, are not materializing, and never will materialize save as they are traced from Ethiopia, and at the cost of the expenses of production. They could probably have been bought as cheaply as they can be produced, without the sacrifice of blood and meat, but it would be to damage the country and the furthering of all that must be made to "pacify" and hold it.

War is a losing game, even when it is won, for all save politicians, munitions-makers—and, sometimes, those who lead the money.

THEY ONLY "WAIT TO SEE"

Mr. Mackenzie, Social Credit leader in the House of Commons, having nominated Premier Aberhart for the position of Prime Minister of Canada, the Premier responds that he has no such ambition and thinks it will be ten years at least before a Social Credit system could be attained in a Dominion scale.

The Premier is quite right in thus confining his attention to Alberta. This province has provided him with all the opportunity needed to try out the Social Credit experiment, and there is no doubt in the state of Alberta that the Dominion would do as much. Moreover, it is his plain duty to carry through its installation in the provincial field. If he succeeds in doing that, there will be no need of a Social Credit leader or party at Ottawa, and ten years will not be required to bring the system into national use.

Albertans are in no respect different from Canadians generally in wanting larger incomes. Mr. Aberhart can supply that need with Alberta's 250 million men that he is now setting, on $75 million a year, through the operation of a Social Credit system, parties at Ottawa will be competing with each other to apply that system to the Dominion, and in the provinces will be calling for almost unanimous adoption.

All the Premier has to do is make his theory work in this province; the other provinces and the Dominion will follow his lead "like ducks to water."

THE SEEDS OF REVOLUTION

Fascists and Communists fought each other and the police in the streets of Paris on Sunday. White anti-Fascist demonstrators in London compelled Sir Mosley to cancel a parade of his blackshirts. The police in Berlin, the city where their appearance was bound to be provocative, and was likely intended to be.

Reactions, no doubt from the war in Spain, where Rightists and Leftists, with any amount of undercover assistance from sympathizers in neutral countries, are trying to exterminate each other, with marked success. The revolutionary spirit is loose in Europe, the revolutionaries in any particular country being whichever "wing" happens to be out of power, and the revolutionaries in Germany, France, and to some degree of latent public regard for law and order.

The root of the trouble—in Spain and elsewhere—is economic. Traced back, it is found to originate in a cleavage between the haves and the have-nots, between the classes, between security, and a chance to obtain a decent and assured living. Given that, people in Europe and elsewhere would still differ in political opinions and governmental theories, but the gap would be narrowed.

Canadians have been divided into the same two camps, through the bitter experience of the last six years, but here fortunately we have the temperament to seek remedies through peaceful evolution. What is going on in Europe is a struggle against tyrannical masters, and a warning also against neglecting to timely use our own methods to gain the end of economic adjustment.

That country is safest where wealth is most widely distributed. Want and the fear of want are the things that breed revolution.

DOING PRETTY WELL

Canada a few years ago shut out Japanese imports, in the supposed interests of national economy—and thereby shut Canadian products out of Japan. The change of Government at Ottawa has not been able to reverse this Japanese trade, with results shown in the official figures for the first six months of the present year.

Canada during that period bought from Japan goods valued at $3 million yen, and sold to Japan products valued at $33 million yen. It is not probable we can continue to do business on that basis. Japan will quite likely call for a modification of the terms. No country can continue to buy Japanese products unless it buys from another country—unless it can sell in other markets far more than it imports from them. Barring that possibility, Japan may be expected to ask for terms more evenly balanced in their favor.

The point of immediate and very practical importance is that Canada has gained and gained tremendously by lowering the barriers against Japanese goods. For the reason that Canada has been able to export quantities of the raw materials and some finished products also, which Japan must import.

Our imports from Japan rank in the following: raw silk, pottery, rice, toys, artificial limbs, hats, buttons, and dried mushrooms. In return we sell Japan aluminum, wheat, lead, newspaper, lumber, zinc and machinery.

Canada is doing pretty well as trade with Japan. We are selling six times as much as we buy. The Japanese are buying twice as much as we sell. At this rate, in a short time, if we hold our point, any one of the industries benefited by the opportunity to sell goods in Japan is worth as much as an employer of labor and distributor of wages as all the Canadian industries that are affected by importing raw silk, pottery, rice, toys, buttons and brushes from that country.

Fifty Years Ago

From the File of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Treasury payments in the Edmonton agency commenced Thursday at the Two Hills Reserve. Only about $200 was paid out, mostly to soldiers who were on leave from the service, members of the force, which is reduced to about 100 members by the scrip issue, did not put in an appearance. They are dissatisfied not being allowed scrip. The fund is without a chief, and therefore no one will be in charge until a committee is formed to take care of that.

Quite a stampede at Hanley's mine up the river developed this week. Mr. Rainboth who is surveying in that district, reports having examined from a small portion of the area of the mine by means of a compass.

It is said that Lamoureux's mill, half-way to the mine, was shut down for several days while every man connected with it struck out for the mine to locate a claim. Several parties left town on Friday.

The hail which fell Saturday was the latest in any season of which the Edmonton records tell.

S. Wilkinson, living on the road to Minto, Firth, Alberta, last week found that his house had been entered and stripped of everything of value.

G. A. Simpson in defining the limits of some Main street lots on Thursday found that several persons who had been encouraged slightly on the street allowance eat others transposed on the lots of neighbors.

FOURTY YEARS AGO

Gusaygul, Emperor, has been almost completely blinded by fire.

Thieves raided the bank at Sherburne, Michigan, shot two men and escaped on bicyc-cles.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COPPER

The views expressed by Mr. J. S. Copper in this column are his own personal views, and are not necessarily those held by The Edmonton Bulletin.—EDITOR.

A sad story comes from up the Coal Branch where——a story of blighted hopes and children's anguish.

One of the Social Credit members was up there on a speaking trip to extol the merits of Prosperity Certificates. To bring the matter to the financial level the miners in one of the company towns held a meeting to get a correct view of the superiority of Prosperity Certificates over Bank of Canada bills, an informant tells me that the speaker drew from a copy of the "Prosperity Certificate" and a Bank of Canada dollar bill—the last most likely of those he had received for his services in the recent special session.

I am told that he went through the motions of splitting on the bank bill, throwing it under the table, and so on, while holding and apostrophizing the provincial Prosperity Certificate. It was a very convincing demonstration.

The pathetic part was that some of the younger people sitting in front were not too greatly impressed. Then, however, the gentleman who thus showed his anger and contempt for the dollar bill fully intended to leave it in the dust of the platform. They waited to see what would happen. To their surprise, the speaker picked up the dollar bill and returned it to the village store, there to trade it on the unsuspecting storekeeper for ice cream cones and chocolate bars.

Just when it looked as if the speaker would finally come home for the youngsters to seize their treasure from the speaker reached down into the dust for the bill and put it back in his own pocket.

Worworth is much-quoted line from his sonnet on Immortality says "Heaven lies about us in our infancy."

Having passed through the parental stage, I'm not so sure about the truth of the poet's dictum. Some grow up to use it as an excuse for lying, others in innumerable ways. One of the most embarrassing moments of my life came when I was a young father. I'd undertaken to address a temperance meeting in the seaport town of Bootle, the Mersey. I'd got myself going when I sprung a funny story about the speaker. While the speaker was laughing, I took the opportunity to show to laugh I put my hand in my breast pocket to pull out a handkerchief and mop my brow.

The older man had much success with an audience over a funny story before or since. They laughed as if they were never going to stop.

Then it was discovered that instead of a handkerchief I was brandishing before them a baby's dummy.

The Coal Branch speaker can use that as a saw-off for the anguish he brought the kiddies, despoiled of their ice cream cones and chocolate bars.

The manner in which the policy of non-intervention in the Spanish rebellion is being used for Fascist advantage is disclosed by Frank L. Kluckhohn in a despatch to the New York Times from Madrid.

After a period of a Fascist dictatorship and makes no secret of its opposition to Spain's Republican government. Though under British diplomatic influence, Portugal did not send a representative to the recent conference where the European nations agreed to a blockade of arms to both combatants in order to keep the war from spreading. She gave consent grudgingly to the agreement.

Mr. K. K. Johnson, who is correspondent in Spain for the New York Times, tells of paying a visit to No. 28 Raia Castro, in Lisbon, an open agency for the purchase of supplies for the Spanish rebels. There he found the Marquesa de Vila Real, former second secretary of the Spanish Embassy to Portugal, and Don Quintino, head of the Lisbon representation of the Burgo Defense Junta, and Jose Maria Gil Robles, head of the Catholic party in the Spanish Foreign Ministry.

Villa Real was in conference with a German spokesman, who was displaying pictures of motor trucks, and other pictures showing how these can be converted into military tanks. He was interested in a conversion by a prime minister of the Spanish Republic.

Whole-Wheat Recipes

By DOCTOR FRANK MCCOY

In whole-wheat, we have one of the delicious and most satisfying of all starches, and in whole-wheat, we are also comparatively inexpensive. In order to give you to more of this excellent starch, I am going to give you some recipes which you may use.

Whole-wheat may be used in a variety of ways and some of the best ways are familiar to us all.

Whole-wheat shredded biscuits are especially desirable, using the shredded whole wheat flour.

Whole-wheat biscuits are made by boiling the whole-wheat flour in water and retasting them under the broiler, then pour hot water over them and season with butter. You will be surprised to enjoy this full, rich, whole-wheat flavor.

Whole-wheat cereal may be used in a variety of ways.

Pick over the wheat grains by hand so as to remove any small pebbles or chaff. Wash thoroughly, cover with twice as much water as wheat and allow to soak for several hours or overnight. Drain off the water and add a little salt or some yeast to the water. Boil the whole-wheat cereal until it is done.

Whole-wheat cereal is also used as a breakfast cereal.

Social Credit Invasion Of British Columbia

By R. T. ELLIOTT, K.C.

The views expressed by Mr. R. T. Elliott, K.C., in this column are his personal views and are not necessarily those held by The Edmonton Bulletin—EDITOR.

PREMIER ABERHART of Alberta has brought before the electors of British Columbia the advisability of adopting Social Credit as the controlling policy in government. He discusses the difficulty in understanding Social Credit by pointing out that we are suffering under the debt creating force and social inequality of a capitalist system which none of us understand.

This invasion of British Columbia has been timed at an opportune moment, because both the federal government and the provincial government are engaged in the impossible task of carrying on the old-fashioned explanatory government on pre-war lines. The electors have long since outgrown pre-war ideas; they know no government will get anywhere unless it does something constructive along the lines of a major development policy.

Social Credit promises a major development along the line of working out freedom from debt, as well individual as municipal, provincial and federal. The electors can understand the promised results, although hazy as to the details of Social Credit methods.

The breaking of the money famine is the dominant wish in current political thought. Social Credit adapts itself to this wish by definitely promising to break the money famine. There is no use to argue that this promise will not be carried out; because the plain retort is that none of the promises of restoration and development which filled the air prior to the general election have produced any tangible results.

Equalization of freight rates is still only a dream; and the electors know they pay the bills for the discriminations.

Non-payable freight rates keep coal locked up in the ground; keep fuel costs too high; will keep volume of employment at a minimum. Just as a commonsense plan of uniformed zone freight rate on coal, giving every community a fuel supply at a uniform cost approximating world values, would lift the tax load, and go farther towards restoring public confidence in government than all the speeches and explanations of which politicians are capable.

There is no concealing the fact that the electors are in a state of political revolution. Our saving difference from European methods is that we still rely on voting power. That voting power can no longer be held in line by promises and alibis.

An article written by a Canadian woman, she has won eminence, this "Dryad of Nanaimo," whose life has been free and beautiful beyond the shackles of suffering while crippled her through the years.

Ladies Must Be Slim According To Critic

By GLADYS GLAD

Quite some time ago that able critic, George Jean Nathan, cautiously remarked that in his opinion, a woman cannot possibly be fat, and at the same time be a dame. As he said, the first requisite is slenderness. Manners come second. Personally, although I have never been fat, I do not wholly disagree with Mr. Nathan. For usually obesity becomes a social handicap, and is even neglectful of her person. However, some of us are likely to be fat, and it would be wise to permit a few culprits pounds to beounding themselves on our ankles. Men, too, may be fat, but they have their weaker moments. And though fat, rich scances, and tempting sweetmeats, are hard to withstand. Most of us, however, have a sweet tooth, and ever so often, reflect that dietary vigilance, even when as a child, is good. Such habits are conducive to physical health, and eat meat that are well-balanced, and not overcooked. Exercise, as a general thing, to procure sufficient exercise every day to tone your figures firm, slender and supple.

FAT GIRL CAN REDUCE

The girl who has permitted herself to become a member of a circus fat lady, of course, won't have such an easy time of it, but she can't help it. She can't help it that she'll find it impossible, if she follows a sensible reducing diet, to lose weight. As contained in my "New Figure" booklet, for instance, is simple enough to follow, and will bring excellent results. This instance takes off about eight to ten pounds in two weeks, and you will be surprised at how most impatient of fashions.

The girl who has only a few pounds to reduce, and that ladylike slenderettes can trim down to another measure more easily, of course. For instance, the diet will prove most effective in eliminating the excess appetites. In this diet, a glass of

What New York Is Wearing

By HELEN WILLIAMS

When you're not all dressed up, and have some place to go, there's no reason why you should look anything but trim. If you take a minute or two, this ensemble for instance, will do. The white pants and front buttoned top are a neat and fresh design. Besides for home tasks the attractive dress is very comfortable to wear. If you prefer the apron can be made of the white plaid or of velveteen print as white plaid or white.

This is such a simple little ensemble that it can be made in a jiffy. It's cut in one with the shoulders; only two major parts to the apron—two white pants and a front buttoned top. The size No. 262 includes pattern and directions in detail. Price $1.25, size 36, 38, 40 and 50-inches bust. Size 36 requires 3½ yards of 35-inch material. Pattern is to be used for dresses. Separate pattern 1½ yards of 35-inch material.

PROS AND CONS OF TAXI SQUABBLE HEARD BY COMMITTEE

No Action Will Be Taken Till Drivers Minimum Pay Set

Three delegations representing the Edmonton taxi business wait on the city bylaws committee Wednesday to speak to Ald. J. T. McGarvey, who proposed a taxicab tariff, a proposal of a three-man board to regulate operators and a proposal of a limitation of fare meters in all cabs. One group of operators supported Ald. McGarvey's proposal, while another that the reported setting of a higher minimum wage for drivers is the best protection against inflation of fare meters in all cabs.

Another group of operators oppose Ald. McGarvey's proposal, while the committee recommended to city council that no action be taken on Ald. McGarvey's proposal. The provincial government had set a minimum fare of $1.50 for cab drivers.

TAXI RATE. Another group of operators oppose Ald. McGarvey's suggested amendment to the existing taxi cab bylaw would provide:

"An increase in present rates, the average being 50 cents for four passengers for the first two miles of a trip and an additional 10 cents per mile for each one of a mile thereafter."

Establishment of fare meters in all cabs.

3-APPOINTMENT. Of a board composed of the police chief, one city engineer, one producer and one alderman to regulate the operation of the taxi business.

MINIMUM WAGE.

Spokesmen for taxi operators favoring this plan, John MacNeil said he was representing six companies, while those opposing it said the provincial government had indicated it would set a minimum wage of $1.50 a week. As the present average wage is $1.25 a week, the difference between $8 and $10 a week, this action on the part of the government would mean a minimum wage increase in the fair tariff.

Dealing with the motion of meter, Ald. McGarvey admitted this would prove costly, meters costing about $100 apiece. He said, however, that under a metered service a more satisfactory fare scale could be established to the benefit of drivers, passengers and operators.

He was supported in his argument by Jack Hays and James Smith, operators.

14 OFFICERS.

Fourteen officers, appearing for 14 of the smaller taxi firms, declared that any increase in the existing fares would result in a loss of business to taximen. He took the stand that the meter system would not work out satisfactorily in Edmonton, since the meter would only start running when the passenger had been picked up. In such a case, there would be a lot of "dead time" in the meter, a clock which would not be paid for.

Counsel for the Edmonton Taxi Drivers Association, which has a membership of 66 drivers, Col. F. C. Jamison, K.C., urged the committee to accept Ald. McGarvey's proposal. He declared many cabmen were earning only 15 to 20 cents a mile, while others were also anxious to abolish wages by commission, adopting a set rate of 10 cents a mile.

Col. Jamison argued that since the government was considering the introduction of a minimum fare, the drivers, the fare tariff would have to be increased. If city council adopted the meter plan, a better standard of living would be provided for drivers.

WYMAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Charged with endeavoring to obtain $33,500 from Stanley Sokolowski, Bear Lake resident, by menaces and obtaining the same by false pretenses, Mrs. W. L. Wyman, faced a plea of not guilty before Mr. Justice Tweddle in supreme court Thursday morning.

It is the second time she obtained this money to settle or have abandoned charges against Sokolowski arising from the shooting of three deer out of season.

Evidence before the court on the most recent trial dealt with conversations between the accused, Stanley Sokolowski, and his father. The defense claimed that Sokolowski knew that the case should be settled without charging being laid, and that he had no objection to what could be done about the matter.

It was also shown that Wyman had been in touch with Sokolowski in an attempt to minimize costs.

Mr. Justice Tweddle was critical of Mrs. Sokolowski's shooting of deer out of season. The reason given for the offense was that she had been unable to afford what could be done about the matter.

It was also shown that Wyman had been in touch with Sokolowski in an attempt to minimize costs.

WYMAN PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Charged with endeavoring to obtain $33,500 from Stanley Sokolowski, Bear Lake resident, by menaces and obtaining the same by false pretenses, Mrs. W. L. Wyman, faced a plea of not guilty before Mr. Justice Tweddle in supreme court Thursday morning.

It is the second time she obtained this money to settle or have abandoned charges against Sokolowski arising from the shooting of three deer out of season.

Evidence before the court on the most recent trial dealt with conversations between the accused, Stanley Sokolowski, and his father. The defense claimed that Sokolowski knew that the case should be settled without charging being laid, and that he had no objection to what could be done about the matter.

It was also shown that Wyman had been in touch with Sokolowski in an attempt to minimize costs.

Mr. Justice Tweddle was critical of Mrs. Sokolowski's shooting of deer out of season. The reason given for the offense was that she had been unable to afford what could be done about the matter.

It was also shown that Wyman had been in touch with Sokolowski in an attempt to minimize costs.

Rumors Indicate That Professional Hockey Hopes Are Still Held For Edmonton

THERE still appears to be nothing at all certain as to just what shape the remains of the Northwestern Professional Hockey League will take this winter—supposing, of course, that it is formally decided to take any. Up to a few days ago it was generally taken for granted that Edmonton and Calgary were definitely out of the picture and that the loop would dwindle to a strictly Pacific coast coterie of clubs.

Now, however, even that does not appear to have been definitely settled off. Rumors are going around inside hockey circles here that President Leitch would be interested in finding an Edmonton man with money and courage enough to buy up Henry Roche's Eskimos club franchise.

If these rumors have any foundation, and the dove seems to find them so, there is another amateur hockey news. In terms of populations and distance, a lesser world, far as apart as Edmonton and Seattle has a distinctly cock-eyed aspect. This cock-eyed appearance becomes almost ludicrous when it is remembered with a shiver that Edmonton has no artificial ice plant.

Dependent On Calgary

TRUE enough, in bygone days Edmonton fans braved blizzards and nursed an epidemic of chilblains and frost bites in order to pack the arena to capacity. But somehow the trend seems to have left that Spanish mission in the intervening years. Given a colorful team that hustles and is up at the top of the standings, those impressive tricks of the citizens out to the Arena might be revived, but that is problematical. You never can be sure of what sport fans will do, but they have certainly not shown any symptoms in recent seasons that any promoter could draw much hope from.

However Edmonton's future in pro hockey is largely bound up with that of Calgary. Whether Leitch would put out feelers in Cow Town, the same as he has in Edmonton, is another question.

About the only thing that is known about the Calgary hockey situation just now is that the city does not appear to be pro minded and that plans are well advanced to give it the best senior amateur team it has had for a number of years. Calgary has grabbed off the cream of last season's senior crop and it isn't doing that unless a successful amateur winter is pretty well assured.

It's a Tough Problem

THE fact of the matter is that there are too many hockey games claiming the fans' attention in both Edmonton and Calgary. The two cities have pro clubs in mind, but the right side of the ledger. And if the pro club is not competitive, it will not be hot enough to draw any support at all. This leaves promoters hamstrung between the well-known horns of the dilemma. Even if they were fortunate enough to meet a payroll for a small team with the same sort of takes in either Edmonton or Calgary, the expense of those costly jumps across the mountains to the coast is enough to give a promoter the creeps in broad daylight. Subsidies from the coast teams would help, of course, but it will be quite a feat to sell the coast on the idea that Edmonton and Calgary are worth so much to them. Now, the Indians have been making fortunes, and the inclusion of Alberta would of course mean that, too, would have to make a couple of jumps over the Rockies.

WORLD SERIES EXODUS BEGINS MANY RUMORS

Steve McKeever Roars Brooklyn Club Not For Sale

BY SCOTT RESTON
NEW YORK, Oct. 8—World series ballyhooers scrambled out of the big city last night because of an assessment of conflicting rumors, a hoarde of second guessers and indications where to send their next check.

The aghast rumor that Col. T. L. Huston, former part-owner of New York's Brooklyn Dodgers, had Brooklyn Dodgers for a syndicate headed by the Reynolds Tobacco interests, was exploded by Steve W. McKeever, 51-year-old president of the Dodgers.

"I have not seen Col. Huston, he has never made me an offer, and he has no right to," roared McKeever.

This failed to agree, however, with the statement from Fredrick

National League president:

OFFERS $100,000

"Huston offered $100,000 for the Dodgers, and the Col. told me during the summer the club was still under contract."

McKeever made the only other official announcement of the day, that the new St. Louis Browns, manager of the Dodgers would not be named for some time.

Giant manager K. M. Landis started the exodus toward the hunting and fishing grounds, the new world champion, and his master, the great Connie Mack, was off to a trip to the Adirondacks.

Yankee Manager Joe McCarthy was reported to be disturbed.

"I'm going to sleep for a week," said Gil Terry, manager of the Giants. "I want to meet a payroll for a small team with the same sort of takes in either Edmonton or Calgary. The expense of those costly jumps across the mountains to the coast is enough to give a promoter the creeps in broad daylight. Subsidies from the coast teams would help, of course, but it will be quite a feat to sell the coast on the idea that Edmonton and Calgary are worth so much to them. CHAPFER V.
DOWN at State University a young man of 24 had just received his diploma.

Thomas Jefferson Howard was his name.

He had been one who belonged to him, that is. He was the last of his class in that round mountain town, and he was the last in his home state and was yet a part of the hills.

He had come down at 21—three years ago—and had stayed at the university of his native state. During those three years he had accumulated a sum of money, and was studying even during the summer weeks to win his credits. Through it all he had been poor, but strong and sullen, knowing himself to be a failure and resenting it. It was not merely a man who was older than the years around him. He was unusually "matured." In speech and countenance appeared a man, too, in his silence and his suspiciousness.

Going to his boarding house, he went into his room and slammed the door behind him. He still wore his cap and gown, and looked at himself in the mirror he laughed bitterly.

"Thought it'd make a difference in your looks, havin' a diploma, didn't you? Thought it'd make Eeception to make you look siller, walkin' around in this foot gettin'?"

A smile came over his face. He had crossed the campus, half an hour ago. A very pretty girl. She had seen him, and had stopped him, and the lower classmen in white flannels, and as Jeff Howard passed the trio they all turned their heads to trouble him to the amusement in their eyes.

The boy's laughing voice had floated back to him. "Who's the big scarecrow?"

"Major Jefferson Howard," he heard one of the boys say, the high-sounding name with a dash of contempt.

He could imagine the rest. They'd told her all about his diplomas, and college, and "the Constitution."

"Old Democracy," he thought. About his futile attempts at finding work, and at getting into the wrong clothes.

His sucking his napkin under his chin that time at the university, when he had been trying to tell the world of "mine Blue Grass property," didn't you?

He had continued in a nod of assent from the lawyer. "I want to take over the best farm I can lay my hands on."

Mr. McBrain rang for his secretary and called for Mr. Howard's young mountaineer taking some interest in his property at last.

In the office of the lawyer, the papers he cleared his throat and said uncertainly: "There's Major Sam Meed, son of the old Major. He's been practically yours for a year now, but I've held off trying to get him to take over the farm until I don't like to foreclose in a care like that."

"A care like what?" asked Jeff Howard coldly.

Mr. McBrain took off his glasses and looked thoughtful and regretful. He was trying to think of what he could do to help him out of the old Major Meed's farm. He did not know the young man.

"Major Meed is as fine an old gentleman as you'll find in Kentucky. He's experiencing the dreams of the bitter feeling in the young man's heart. His people were aristocrats, and he's given up."

"What's the house like?" asked Jeff Howard.

"It's situated about five miles beyond Shelby on the Louisville pike," said the lawyer. "It's a large and brick house, sitting about a quarter mile off the pike beyond a woodland. I'm lookin' for a suitable place to live. This location sounds all right to me."

Mr. McBrain shook his head. "I wouldn't advise it, Howard. I wouldn't advise it at all. You'd find yourself a headache if you took it. The entire county would be down on you. Major Meed's a one-man town, and that's the way the woods. People respect him, love him."

"But not enough to pay his debts for him," interrupted Jeff Howard. "Well, I don't mind. He's nothing but a good man, and the place is legal."

"Here goes, Mr. Howard," said the lawyer earnestly. "You've got a couple of other farms that would do just as well. Maybe better. Now there's no need to go closer to your old home."

"I'm going angry," growled Jeff. "I'm goin' to get me back to the mountains, am I? Well, I'm not goin' back."

Actually, Jeff Howard was not

PEG, VANCOUVER MAIL SERVICE BY AIR COMING

Minister Makes Announcement of Interest to Prairies

VANCOUVER, Oct. 8.—An air-mail service between Vancouver and White Rock, B.C., is expected sometime next spring and a Canadian coast to coast service will be inaugurated probably on July 1. Hon. C. D. Howe, federal minister of transport, announced the plan today.

The minister came to Vancouver from Ottawa by airplane.

Experimental flights across the Rocky Mountains were started this spring preparatory to establishing a regular air-mail service between Vancouver and the West Coast.

The flights, designed to test radio ranges, were conducted with a new twin-engine plane. The experiments were conducted with a view to establishing routes which could be used when mail-planes could keep in touch with the mountainous route.

SIXTEEN POINTS

Sixteen airports and landing fields have been established between Vancouver and Lethbridge and these will be fully equipped by June next. The projected air-route will follow close to the international border crossing, and will be by way of the Crow's Nest Pass.

The airports and landing fields have been set up at Lillooet, Cache Creek, Chilliwack, Hope, Princeton, Keremeos, Rock Creek, Midway, Grand Forks, Salmon Arm, Kamloops, Salmo, Kitchen, Yaak, Cranbrook, Fernie, Coleman on the Alberta boundary line.

Avalion experts here considered it would be necessary that other essentials could be completed on the Winnipeg-Montreal route before 1938. No radio testing had been done on that span, they said.

CORONATION FORM CHANGED

LONDON, Oct. 8.—When the King takes his coronation oath at Westminster Abbey on Saturday, he may use a form of words different from that of his predecessors.

In 1902, King Edward VII's death has been slightly altered in order to comply with the provisions of the Royal Prerogative, which changed the status of the ministrants.

The new wording, evolved after consultation between ecclesiastical and constitutional authorities, will not be used until a royal warrant for the coronation is issued. It is understood the coronation service will be held at the Palace of Westminster, which changed the status of the ministrants.

FATHER GIVEN JAIL TERM FOR RELIEF FRAUD

"For a young man to come to this country and acknowledge he earned $10 monthly and failed to contribute one single nickel to the support of his parents, younger brothers and sisters, and to go on a diet of starvation, although he was being maintained by his parents, is unbearable," Justice J. Antonius Keminis said yesterday.

He was the trigger man in the case of a charge of obtaining relief by false pretenses from the state against Antonius Keminis his father.

Finding the elder Keminis had been maintaining his son, he was gazing his son's earnings when making monthly declarations of revenue to the court, he said. Both members of his family Mr. Justice Justice Keminis said he served 60 days hard labor in Fort Saskatchewan.
